KEN REID NAMED PROJECT MANAGER

LEXINGTON KY, SEPTEMBER 22, 2008. Nesbitt Engineering, Inc. announced that Ken Reid was recently named Project Manager, and will oversee the Construction Division of the company's Civil Section. "Ken is an experienced and versatile professional", stated Paul Nesbitt, president of NESBITT. "His background in supervising large construction projects, his hands-on experience with resident inspection, construction observation and project administration, fully prepares him for this next stage in his career."

Reid, who has more than 20 years of experience in all aspects of construction management, received his B.A. in Engineering from the University of Kentucky.

With offices in Lexington, Hazard and Prestonsburg, NESBITT provides engineering consulting services in a broad range of disciplines including solid waste management, civil engineering, mining engineering, oil and gas consulting, surveying and environmental sciences
